Tiger Tuesday's Soap Boat

Tiger wants to win a sailboat race.

Tiger was in his tree house talking to Thurman and Marshmallow. "You know what?" he said. "I made a boat out of soap for the boat race today. I have soap that can float. I know how to make it go really fast. If you help me, we'll win the boat race today."

"Woof! Woof! Woof!" said Thurman.

"I knew you would help me, Thurman," said Tiger.

"RIBBIT, JIBBIT!" said Marshmallow.

I know what you're saying, Marshmallow. You don't think we'll win. You'll see. We'll win. We'll become rich and famous. Let's go Thurman," said Tiger.

When Tiger and Thurman arrived at the pond, all the children from Tuesday Street were standing side by side. Each one had a boat. All the boats were sailboats. One was not a sailboat. That was Tiger's soap boat. He called it "soap on a rope." A rope was tied to
